"WAGE SLAVERY."

Parsons Regards Those Who Work for Their Bread as Slaves. CHICAGO, November 8th .- Instead of the individual letter which it was hinted by members of the Amnesty Association that Parsons, the Anarchist, would write, deploring—like Spies, Schwab and Fielden—the loss of life at the Haymarket, and abjuring the use of force, a decidedly differ-ent communication is understood to be Parsons' last plea. It was issued over his signature to-night. The document is two columns in length, and is chiefly remarkable for the absence of any reference whatever to the massacre at the Haymarket or the dynamite idea. Parsons addresses the letter to a locally prominent Socialist, "My Dear Friend, George Schilling," and with a of his own life, particularly his actions as leader of the newly-liberated negroes dur-ing the reconstruction times in Texas. Schilling will read the letter in full to Governor Oglesby to-morrow, if the Governor will permit. Parsons closes as follows: "Thus, over a very extensive region of country, among cotton, corn and sugar plantations, I became somewhat famous as a champion of political liberty. Believed by the blacks, I was hated by the whites. I then believed that the colord people were truly freemen, and that they only needed the courage to assert it, did not then understand or know that

They had been merely emancipated from chat-tels to wage servitude. I did not then know that economic freedom must be the basis for political liberty, and that the wage labor system created classes, antagonisms and class servitude. And now, as the Helots of old, the so-called free blacks, in common with their white brethren, work and die like beasts in the unceasing treadmill of wage slavery." THE LAST PETITION.

Capital. CHICAGO, November 8th .- The last dele gation to wait on the Governor with a peti-tion for clemency for the condemned Anarchists left the city to-night.

On motion of M. M. Estee, the provision in the bill read by Mr. Morrow, and known as the Henley bill, as far as it related to the desert land laws, was indorsed by the State Board, and the California delegation in the Fiftieth Congress was requested to work for its passage.

A communication was received from Sen-ator Hearst stating that he would be happy to receive any suggestions from the Board ouching necessary legislation at the coming session of Congress. The communica-tion was received, and the Senator was in-vited to address the Board at his leisure on

St. Paul, November 8th.—The election

IN WASHINGTON.

-There has been great excitement here to-night over the results of the State elections. The employes in the various Government departments crowd the telegraph offices and other places where the latest returns are displayed, anxiously awaiting the results. It appears certain that New York, Virginia and Maryland have gone Democratic, while Massachusetts, Ohio and Pennsylvania remain in the Republican column The greatest interest, of course, is felt in New York, and a victory of the Democrats there in the State, as well as the munici-pal ticket, is considered to mean Cleveland's renomination for the Presidency. He openly advocated the election of Fellows as District Attorney in the city, and indorsed the whole State ticket.

The Maryland Democratic Association sent out of Washington over 600 Demo-cratic voters by railroad to different points in that State. This does not include the numbers who went out in vehicles to vote at precincts near the city.

The Virginia Democratic Association sent omething over 300 voters to that State. Last year the number of Democratic voters urnished with certificates for transportation by the Association was only about forty. This year about eight times as many were sent, and the officers of the Associa-tion argue that the increased number indicates the deep interest of the Democrats in the result, and that the full party vote was

GENERAL NOTICES.

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he cannot go into society, and he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and frequently entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate ELY'S CREAM BALM as by far the best, if not the only real cure for hay fever, rose cold and catarrh.

I and Third streets were filled with excited Mongolians who were running in every direction asking the white men they met, "Whasse matter? What for takee woman?" It appears that nearly all, if not quite all, the Chinawomen that live in houses of prostitution are slaves and are forced to this life by their owners. What We Need

Wm. Ruffner, editor of the Woodland Wm. Rufiner, editor of the Woodland Democrat, is trying to get up a manufacturing boom in Yolo county and his advice in that regard is applicable to this city. He says: "When there is not enough work in a town to keep a good-sized laboring class boy there can be no lively times. This is the case with Woodland. There is eapital here, an abundance of wealth, and ease and luxury, and all that goes toward making people happy. But there is not enough of that backbone and sinew which turns the wheels and wields the hammer enough of that backbone and sinew which turns the wheels and wields the hammer and speeds the loom. Why? Because there is nothing to support it. Woodland is a city of wealth. There is a crying need for more industries to keep up the business of the place. Woodland needs factories and mills and workshops. Until something is done in this line it will be the same old story of the hungry mouse that same old story of the hungry mouse that entered the barrel of sweetmeats through the bung-hole and ate so much it could not get out. The resources of Yolo county varrant a move in this direction, and it should be taken, and taken soon. Where there is so much wealth there should be heard the rattle and whirr and thud of factories and mills, not the continual hum of idle society and the slow tread of unhurried feet."

There may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this, if not effect a cure, try

The Press is one of the best exchanges that comes to our table. It is bright, enter prising and marked by ability and usually accurate, but the inference left in the above is unjust, and the spirit hardly as broad as that which generally marks the Press and which should characterize more of our southern papers. The truth is the northern citrus belt is neither a myth nor a humbug. We have seen oranges and lemons there as fine as any in Southern California. We have seen them hang rich and yellow on he trees in early December, and know that they are the rival of southern growth, both in appearance and flavor. True, all their country is not calculated to produce citrus fruits, but they do not pretend that it is. Still, there are thousands of acres along the footbills, in what is known as the warm elt, that have almost a Southern California imate, and why not recognize the fact. MENT.

[San Francisco Alta.]

The emphatic declaration of Senator Wilson, of Marscehnsetts, in discussing the Pacific Railroad bill in the Senate in June, 1862, herecofore another to the effect that here to the community of Vermont (Cong. p. 1708) 1862, herecofore quoted, to the effect that he should vote for the bill with the expectation and understanding that the money aid given to the companies would never be re-paid, except in services to the Government, were made in opposition to an amendment providing for the extension of the Govern-ment lien to the rolling stock of the roads. As the Senator stated, he thought it idle to require such security for a debt that was never expected, nor indeed intended, to be repaid except in the services provided for. Have You a Humor of Skin or Blood? road every inducement to venture their money in their great but hazardous enterprise, and to remove every unnecessary obstacle out of their way. He thought that it would only jeopardize the success of the work by frightening away private capital from it, to impose a wholly useless iten pon the entire investment.
Wilson was overruled in his contention, and the amendment was adopted; but it is clear from the course of the discussion that the additional security was required, not

The Senator from Massachusetts may be entirely right that the Government may never receive back this money again, and it may be that we make the loan for the purpose of receiving the services; but it will be well to take a mortgage to secure the building of the road through, and then to secure the performance of these services which we expect them to perform in the transmission of mails and munitions after the road is built. Again, the Government can then have the control both of the railroad and of the rolling-stock, and keep it in such a position that it cannot be taken away from the Government by speculators, so that no subsequent mortgage shall ever interfere with it; and we can always be sure of the services to be performed for the Government. Then, in regard to the creditors of the road, it may be suggested that the lands which are to be given to the company will always be open to the creditors. Whenever the company builds forty consecutive miles they are entitled to receive patents for the lands, and those are not mortgaged by this bill, as I understand. I think we had better adopt the amendment of the committee. It will make it safer for the Government, and safer in this regard, that we shall get the road built and the services performed.

Immediately upon this suggestion, and Immediately upon this suggestion, and in answer to it, a vote was taken, and, as the record states, "the amendment was agreed to." Could anything be clearer than that this amendment was adopted with the purpose and view suggested by Senator Clark? The additional lien upon the rolling stock was simply designed to the rolling-stock was simply designed to insure the building of the road and the rendition of the stipulated services.

It is quite clear from a subsequent part of the discussion that the Senator from New Hampsbire did not and could not ew Hampsbire did not, and could not, have any greater expectation than the dis-tinguished Senator from Massachusetts, that the money advanced by the Govern-ment would be eventually repaid, otherwise than in services to be performed, and that he could not, without being guilty of the rankest injustice to the companies, have intended to exact any other repayment. He was outspoken and emphatic in his predictions that the road would not pay, at east for many years after its construction. n answer to a statement of Senator Lane of Kansas, that he believed that the road when completed would "be one of the great paying thoroughfares of the world," Senator Clark on June 18th said:

Senator Clark on June 18th said:

That only shows how we differ. The Senator from Kansas thinks it will be a good paying road. I believe that if the good God were to make that road for you, right through, you could not form a company in the country that would run it without failure.

Whether I am right or not I do not build the road because I think it is to be a paying road; I build it as a political accessity to bind the country together, and hold it together, and I do not care whether it is to pay or not; here is the money of the Government to build it.

Mr. Wade—Then do not be so sharp about them.

Mr. Clark—I am only sharp with them, if the Senator from Ohio will call it so, in order to make it clear that the road will go through. I want to hold a portion of this money until we get it through, and then let them have it all. That is not being sharp. (Cong. Globe, 2d Sess., 37th Cong., p. 2788.)

Subsequently Senator Clark. Subsequently Senator Clark was accused

Senator McDougall of inconsistency in laiming to be in favor of the enterprise when he had so poor an opinion of its suc-cess, and of gross injustice in trying to inveigle private capitalists into investing the $50,000,000 thought to be necessary, in addition to the Government aid, to complete the road, as a great public work, when he believed that they would lose money by the operation. To this the Senator from New Hampshire replied :

New Hampshire replied:

I desire simply to say in regard to what I said, to which the Senator seems to have taken objection, that the road could not be run by any company at the present time. I mean as the country now is, if you were to build it from the Mississippi through: but the railroad is the creative of civilization at the same time it aids it, and the time may come, in the advance of the country, when the road may run itself, when it possibly may pay. But the Senator wants to know why I shall vote for it with my idea in regard to its paying. I vote for it as a political necessity, as a political desideratum. By the time that you get it through, I apprehend that there will be a very great difference in the country from what there is now. I do not mean to say that the time will never come when the road will pay, because there may be a thousand branch roads going into it, and it may be like other railroads in that respect. That is not what I meant to assert. (Cong. Globe, 2 Seis., 37th Cong., 2789.)

Could a Senator with such views of the extremely dubious prospect of success in this great undertaking have entertained for a moment the idea of sabsolutely requiring payment, to the last farthing, of the money advanced by the Government? Even i the enterprise, contrary to his expectations, had proved a most profitable one, could such a Senator, if living and still occupying his seat when the bonds became due, insist with any show of consistency that the noney should be paid back otherwise than y services? Could he justly demand that he aren who, in spite of what he declared them to be the gloomy prospect of sucneir money into the work and carried it brough, and made the road pay, should be punished for their unexpected triumph by being compelled to repay the subsidy which he voted to advance with no expectation of getting it back? But we do not desire to dwell upon this view of the matter at this point. Suffice it to say that whatever position Senator Clark might take pon this subject of the repayment of the money if he were alive and in the Senate when the bonds mature, it is at least cerain that when he voted for the bill he did ot expect that the companies would be able to make repayment except in services, and that he could not honestly and consist-ently have intended that they should be required to make repayment in any other way.

There were others besides Senators Wilson and Clark who voted for this bill in the Senate who avowed their want of faith in the success of the Pacific railroad as a paying business investment. Thus Senator Collamer, of Vermont, on June 19th Cong. Globe, 2d Sess., 37th Cong., p. 2816) I am very sensible that the Honorable Senator from Massachusetts some two years ago showed to his satisfaction, and in good measure to mine, that if the road was already built it probably never could be run—and I have no doubt that he entertains the same opinion now—unless some contribution was given to it by the Government from time to time. That may be necessary, and perhaps may be positive. That is his opinion.

It is true that Senator Collamer favored an amendment which apparently required the peremptory repayment at maturity of the money advanced, and is not, therefore, to be classed among the consistent and steadfast friends of the bill. Besides, as appears from the tone of his remarks appears from the tone of his remarks throughout the discussion, he seems to have been acting under the impression that his shrewd Yankee constituency wanted him to drive as sharp a bargain as possible with the companies, at least on paper. But the Senator was too just and generous a man to have really intended that repayment of the money should be actually expensed. nent of the money should be actually ex-oundertake the building of the road and trong enough to carry it through even to profitable success, in the face of all preactions of failure, and if when it was com-leted the companies faithfully performed or the Government the services required. Vermont cunning and love for a close bar-gain may be "as sharp as needles" and "as hard as nails," but it is not unjust.

I have recommended the CUTICURA REMEDIES to all whom I have met that were in any way in need of a skin cure. One man to whom I recommended them had suffered for over twelve years, and in that time spent nearly five hundred dollars to be cured: but nothing helped, and now, after the use of five bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and several boxes of CUTICURA, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, rejoices in having found a cure. I have others at present under treatment, and with good prospects. In no case, to my knowledge, have the CUTICURA REMEDIES failed.

presented that sellers have faith in the future. The situation at Liverpool has improved during the past two weeks, and it is to be hoped that the change for the better will become more pronounced by the end of the year, so that after the holidays there may be more brisk trading at enhanced values. At the moment it is doubtful if much really good stock could be bought under $1.30 \(\frac{3}{2} \) ett, while, on the other hand, purchasers are few at anything over $1.27\(\frac{1}{2} \) for No. 1 grades. Millers pay from $1.82\(\frac{1}{2} \) to $1.37\(\frac{1}{2} \), the latter being the full limit for fancy parcels.

BARLEY—The tone of the market to-day was of firm character, though parties identified with this class of trade claimed to see no legitimate reason for the apparently strong feeling. Some sellers quoted the market for feed at $56\(\frac{2}{2} \) etl, with slow inquiry, while persons of repute reported that they had offered the higher figure for choice product without being able to satisfy their wants. Perhaps the absence of rain, combined with the advancing rates for Oats and other articles of feed, may have some influence in the premises. Brewing Barley is offering with less freedom, and some dealers say that round lots are not being put on the market. However, there is no positive demand at the moment, and prices remain unchanged. From $1 \to $1 \to $3 \(\frac{1}{2} \) ctl is the full range of quotations. Quietness in Chevalier has been the rule for some time, and nothing can be seen in the near future that is likely to change the monotony. Quotable, nominal at $1.20\(\frac{1}{2} \) for standard; fair to good bay, $1\(\frac{1}{2} \) 17\(\frac{1}{2} \); fair to good cost, $5\(\frac{1}{2} \) for the cost of the property of good coast, 85@90c.

OATS—Sellers have the advantage. There is a scarcity of bright, heavy, clean Oats, and holders of such parcels ask a price that a short time ago would have been considered fanctfui. The demand is active, and no great time is consumed in bartering for lots that suit the wants of buyers. We quote: Choice Feed, $1.55; No. 1 Feed, $1.45@1.50; No. 2, $1.30@1.37½; Milling, $1.50@1.55; Surprise, $1.60; Black, $1.15@1.25 for common, and $1.30@1.35 & ctl for good to choice. FRUIT—Cantaloupes are mostly of inferior quality, and are not in demand. Quinces are neglected Apples are in good request, the receipts being liberal, though a strictly choice article does not figure much among arrivals. Pears of superior quality are scarce, and custom cannot be diverted to anything eise, so that common stock goes begging. Grapes continue to make fair representation, but trade is slow, and sales at top prices are exceptional and only paid for something extra. We quote jobbing lots as follows: Pomegranates, $1 25@2 2 box; Quinces, 50@75c 2 box; Wine Grapes, $12@18 2 ton; Grapes, $56.50c 2 box; Tokay, 50@75c; Cornichon, 75c@$1 2 box; Wine Grapes, $12@18 2 ton; Grapes, $26.60c 2 box; Tokay, 50@75c; Cornichon, 75c@$1 2 box; Strawberries, $6.00 2 box; Mexican Limes, $3.25 2 box; Cornichon, 75c.681; Apples, 50c.681 2 box; Pears, 50c.681 3 box; Mexican Limes, $3.25 2 box; Cornichon, and $3.46 50 2 box for choice; Banabas, $1 50.43 50 2 box; Grape Cod Cranberries, $11.60c. 12 8 bbl.

BUTTER—No change in quotations. Stocks of strictly fancy fresh continue light, but the demand is not urgent enough to give the situation the buoyant feeling that prevailed a couple of weeks or so ago. Medium grades, as well as some grades that could be classed as choice, are in greater supply than trade wants, and many buyers will not purchase freely except at figures near to those current on the better qualities of pickled roll. We quote jobbing lots as follows: Fancy, 40c; good to choice, 55@575/c; fair, 25@20c; mixed lots, 17@20c; fixin, 24@26/2c for fancy, 20@22/2c for good, and 15@18c % b for poor to fair; pickled roll, 27@30c % b.
